7. FINANCIAL INTELLIGENCE

Type	Details
Cash Seizure	■1,84,00,000 recovered across Nelamangala (■1.1 Cr), Hoskote (■44 Lakh) and the Ramanagara safehouse (■30 Lakh), packed in vacuum-sealed bundles consistent with proceeds layering
Bank Transfers	Suspect 4 (Manjula K.) identified as operating layering transfers through 5 personal and shell-firm accounts; approx. ■62 lakh in structured transfers (each below ■2 lakh to avoid reporting thresholds) traced over the preceding 4 months to accounts subsequently linked to Suspects 2 and 6
Hawala Indicators	Ledger book recovered from Ramanagara safehouse contains coded entries cross-referenced with the international numbers in §6, consistent with a parallel hawala settlement channel; under joint review with the Enforcement Directorate

8. NARRATIVE OF INVESTIGATION

Acting on sustained intelligence developed over a 46-day surveillance period on financial and telecom activity associated with a suspected inter-state trafficking network, the Narcotics Control Wing conducted a simultaneous multi-site operation in the early hours of 20 July 2026 across six identified locations in Bengaluru Rural district. The operation was coordinated to prevent evidence destruction or suspect flight between sites once the first raid commenced.

The primary site, a warehouse unit in the Nelamangala Industrial Area, yielded the largest seizure — approximately 42 kg of suspected MDMA/amphetamine-type substances and 116 kg of ganja, along with precursor chemicals now sent for forensic quantification. Cash totalling ■1,84,00,000 was recovered across three of the six sites, packed in a manner consistent with proceeds awaiting layering through the financial network described in §7.

Eight of the nine identified suspects were apprehended during or shortly after the operation; the ninth, Anwar Baig (alias "Chikka Anna"), assessed as the network's coordinating figure, remains absconding as of this report, with his last confirmed handset (9741122334) going silent immediately following the raid. A secondary handset (9880011223) attributed to the same suspect remains active and is being tower-tracked.

Analysis of the recovered vehicles — fourteen in total, including three inter-state goods carriers — indicates a logistics pattern in which smaller local vehicles (Vehicles 1–8, 11–13) move product between the six sites, while container trucks (Vehicles 9–10) handle inter-state movement. Vehicle 9 was intercepted at the Krishnagiri border check point during a routine toll-plaza FASTag cross-reference; Vehicle 10 remains under active tracing using the same method.

The financial handler role attributed to Suspect 4, Manjula K., is supported by a ledger recovered from the Ramanagara safehouse containing coded entries that cross-reference two international phone numbers under surveillance (§6, items 10–11), suggesting a parallel hawala settlement channel operating alongside conventional bank-transfer layering. A Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty (MLAT) request has been initiated for the UAE-registered number to obtain subscriber and call-pattern records.

Preliminary link-analysis of the nine suspects, six sites, fourteen vehicles, and seventeen phone numbers indicates a three-tier hierarchy: a coordinating kingpin (Suspect 1), two regional lieutenants (Suspects 2–3) each overseeing a warehouse supervisor and courier pair, and a dedicated financial handler (Suspect 4) operating across all regional cells rather than reporting to a single lieutenant. This structure, along with the unidentified external contact (Suspect 9, alias "Guru"), has been flagged for graph-based network analysis to assess links to other open NDPS cases in neighbouring districts.

Investigation Status: Eight suspects are in judicial custody; the search for Suspect 1 is ongoing with lookout circulars issued at all major transit points. Forensic quantification of seized contraband, financial forensic review of the layering chain, and the MLAT request remain pending. This report will be updated via supplementary chargesheet as the investigation progresses.
